Mr. Evans was again nominated for Congress by the Whig party in 1851, having for his opponent the late Hon. Hiram McCullough, of Cecil county. This was a hard-fought contest. Mr. Evans, who had carried Cecil county by 244 majority in 1849, notwithstanding that the Whig candidates for the Legislature at the same time were defeated, for the first time failed to carry his county. Mr. Evans was elected, however, by a majority of 148, carrying Kent, Queen Anne's and Caroline counties. Mr. Evans was instrumental in arranging for the Constitution of 1867.
